PMP Excellence in the State of Illinois

Asset$Illinois Homeownership Project

Asset$Illinois is a solution-oriented approach to creating financial stability for Illinois Families. The Illinois Department of Human Services partners with public and private sectors to offer Illinois residents Individual Development Accounts to help them purchase a first home and education through homeownership and education projects.

“Me and my family moved from a 762 square feet of love to more than double that amount,” is how Scott, one of the first participants in the Asset$Illinois Homeownership Project described the outcome of his investment in the program

Asset$Illinois Homeownership Project Is Enjoying Success

Scott is one of 10 Illinois residents who purchased a home with Asset$Illinois matching funds in 2008. Thanks to Project Director Kevin Davy and his staff, another 15 have completed their financial education requirements and are expected to purchase homes in early 2009. Additionally, 50 new accounts have been established. Kevin and his staff will continue to provide customer service and a savings opportunity for future Illinois homeowners who are striving to become first time homeowners.

Asset$Illinois is a viable solution to homeownership because “without the experience or training in buying and keeping a home people can easily pay too much or make poor choices that will eventually jeopardize their financial health,” says DeShonal. Forney, executive director of the Illinois Housing Development Authority.

Asset$Illinois is about saving money now to build equity for the future

Many low and moderate income families struggle to save money for the down payment on a home. This program provides the information and ongoing support Illinois residents need to develop and implement a savings plan. Scott said “This program provided me with financial counseling and I picked up a lot of tips.”

As of June 2008, 110 Illinois residents are enrolled in the program and are saving an average of $125 a month or 5X the national average for similar locally managed programs.

Asset$Illinois uses customer centered and customer friendly technology

“Accessibility and ease of use are at the core of good customer service, which is why the housing initiative is fully automated,” Kevin Davy says, “Thanks to today’s technology, we have never had to meet with people who have completed the home purchasing process. Participants completed financial management training electronically. They made deposits electronically. This electronic process allows us to serve the entire state of Illinois from our office in Chicago.

And this project saves at a rate higher than any similar program in the country,”

Asset$Illinois Education Project

The Asset$Illinois Education Project provides educational support. Illinois residents can use savings and match funds from the project to pay for books and classes taken at Illinois public education institutions. And when a student is enrolled in school, Asset$Illinois savings and match are distributed at a $3 (Match) to $1 (Savings) rate for any qualified educational purchases including software and hardware for computer based classes

Asset$Illinois welcomes Illinois residents who have achieved a GED or a high school diploma to enroll in one of 200 available slots in the program.

This initiative offers a viable solution to those seeking a higher standard of living because, as Secretary Carol Adams says “adding economic value to the marketplace results in more money and wealth for families,” If low and moderate income families use the Asset$Illinois Education funds for training in careers where the demand for employees is high, the likely result will be better employment opportunities and a higher quality of life for families.

A commitment to assist Illinois residents in their efforts to achieve maximum self sufficiency and independence is the reason that DHS has formed partnerships to provide homeownership and educational opportunities. These partnerships are making it possible for people who have been historically underrepresented among homeowners to purchase their first home.

Project Management Excellence to the US Army and Corp of Engineers

MBA Project Solutions has existed as an Illinois BEP firm for more than five years and have previously contracted with the Illinois Department of Education to deliver training services to Illinois after school programs, subcontracting with the State of Illinois. Prior to that work, Kevin Davy, the CEO of MBA Project Solutions Corporation, worked as a contractor under his own name for the Illinois Department of Human Services for three years, from 1996 to 1999 raising and managing a budget of more than $2.5 million dollars for the Asset$Illinois project, before Mr. Davy received a second Masters degree in Project Management and Project Management Professional (PMP) certification. Kevin Davy, our CEO and the project manager for this project brings 10 years of experience as a Project Management Professional and 15 years experience as an MBA trained general manager. Mr. Davy has contracted with the state of Illinois as both a college instructor and a project manager on numerous projects including within Illinois Community Colleges. These experiences make him fully capable of offering staff general instruction related to project management and general management of emerging Illinois firms.

MBA Project Solutions is proud to be the only Illinois BEP corporation certified with Project Management Professional (PMP) credentials. These credentials are rigorously tested and approved by the internationally acclaimed Project Management Institute.
